

In addition to the long-standing sale of new products and spare parts for UTIs and samplers from our Swiss partner Honeywell Enraf Tanksystem, we jointly established our official service station in 2013 and have been working on a 24/7-365 basis for our customers and their devices on board and on land ever since.

Honeywell
Enraf Tanksystem SA

Through a close cooperation with an in-house partner company, we also cover a very wide range of safety-related services for the maritime and land-based petrochemical industry.

Together with our customers, we develop fleet-wide solutions to simplify the mandatory annual calibration of portable devices such as UTI's, gas detectors, alco-testers, pressure and temperature calibrators, and many more.

SAFETY

